Specialist Road Traffic Solicitor Launches in Dorset!

D H Reynolds Solicitors have just launched their new Road Traffic Law service and dedicated website.

Motoring law covers a vast array of offences that range from speeding, drink driving, using a mobile phone whilst driving and dangerous driving. However, like most areas of the law it is vital to seek an expert opinion.

No solicitor would ever condone or encourage committing road traffic offences, but most if not all would recommend seeking advice when faced with a fine, prosecution or charge. This is because many road traffic offences can lead to endorsement of penalty points and even a driving ban.

Dorset has many large and busy roads that are used by thousands of motorists every day. Many of these motorists would face losing their livelihood or family contacts if they lost their driving licence. Their driving licence is highly valuable to them and rightly so.

It also cannot be forgotten that so many driving offence prosecutions rely on evidence gained from using modern technology such as speed cameras, breathalysers and hand held laser devices. Like any technology, these can fail and if not used correctly can provide false or inaccurate evidence.

However it is usually only down to experience in dealing with criminal law and procedure that one is able to identify any potential errors or inaccuracies: and that's where DH Reynolds come in!

Des Reynolds is a highly experienced criminal solicitor who has a particular specialism and interest in Road Traffic Law. Des believes in providing down-to-earth advice to all his clients and is able to provide guidance at all stages of a motoring offence.

Des has fully embraced the modern methods of proving legal advice and guidance. This is mainly via his dedicated website www.dhreynolds.co.uk that not only provides general information and guidance, but allows visitors to ask for advice for free!

This way, anyone who is worried about their driving licence or would like advice on a criminal or motoring law matter can contact Des easily for free. Des will provide some basic advice and information and usually suggest the best course of action.

DHReynolds.co.uk is one of the first dedicated Road Traffic Solicitor Websites in Dorset and no doubt will be used by many drivers who need help.
